I received these emails from the flock customer success team. The first attachment is flock's response to the new WA stat law. They've created a filter that does not allow immigration to be a reason to search for someone. The second attachment is another reminder on how the sharing works.

Can you both start doing some digging? I will as well. This may potentially affect our collaboration with local PD's.

I will be working with KCHA's EVP Andria Lazaga for some legal interpretations as well.

Thanks,

Subject: Keep Washington Working Act - Flock Cameras

Ponha,

Below is the AI summary of the Keep Washington Working Act, which may restrict our usage of Flock Cameras. I was just in a meeting with Councilmember Mosqueda who believe because of the collaboration with law enforcement that use of Flock is restricted in King County based on this act that was recently passed.

Issue is regarding the storage of the data via a 3rd party that can retain data which can then be subpoenaed or obtained and used unwittingly. King County is looking for partner agencies to also restrict usage. We need to research this (not just the AI version) and find out how flock cameras are being restricted.

Robin

The Keep Washington Working (KWW) Act is a Washington state law that protects the rights of immigrant communities by restricting state and local agency collaboration with federal immigration enforcement agencies. It prohibits law enforcement, jails, and other state agencies from collecting immigration-related information, stopping or detaining individuals for civil immigration violations, or honoring federal immigration detainers without a warrant. The Act also prevents these agencies from denying services, benefits, or employment based on an individual's immigration or citizenship status, unless required by federal or state law.

What the Keep Washington Working Act Does:

- Protects Information:

Prohibits state agencies from inquiring about or collecting an individual's immigration or citizenship status, place of birth, or nationality unless a connection exists to a violation of state or local law.

- Restricts Collaboration:

Prevents local and state law enforcement, jails, and other agencies from assisting with federal immigration enforcement duties or detaining individuals for immigration purposes.

- Prohibits Detainers (Without Warrant):

Jails cannot honor federal immigration detainers or notify federal agents of a person's custody for a civil immigration matter without a federal immigration warrant.

- Ensures Access to Services:

Guarantees that individuals cannot be denied state or local services, benefits, privileges, or employment due to their immigration or citizenship status.

- Establishes Guidelines:

Provides guidance and model policies for state and local agencies on how to comply with the law. Key Prohibitions for Law Enforcement and Jails:

- Stopping or detaining someone solely to determine their immigration status.

- Providing federal immigration authorities with non-public personal information of individuals in custody.
- Allowing federal agents to interview people in custody regarding civil immigration violations.
- Entering into agreements that deputize local law enforcement to perform federal immigration enforcement duties.

Purpose of the Act:

The Act aims to ensure that Washington's economy and communities remain strong by protecting all state residents, regardless of their immigration status, and by preventing local resources from being diverted to support federal immigration enforcement efforts.

Dear Flock Customer,

To help enable compliance with Washington laws that restrict law enforcement agency actions related to immigration enforcement and reproductive health rights protected under Washington law, our Product team has created a new Search filter for your agency. This filter is designed to remove your agency's cameras from any search with a search reason that appears to indicate that the search is connected to immigration enforcement or reproductive care. This filter will apply to all searches performed that include any of your networks, whether by your own employees or other agencies that you have shared with, such as via direct one-to-one sharing and the Statewide and Nationwide Lookup tools.

We intend to turn on the filter for all law enforcement customers in the state of Washington on Friday (August 15th, 2025). If you have any questions or concerns, please let us know.

Flock remains committed to ensuring that agencies can share data in a manner consistent with their community's values and comply with all applicable laws.

Have a great day,

Lisa Krolikowski

Hello,

We have recently been asked how data sharing works with Flock License Plate Readers (LPRs). We hope you find this information helpful.

Each LPR camera in your network captures vehicular evidence to help solve crime. That data belongs to you as the customer. As the system administrator, you have full control over whether and how your agency shares this information with others.

Time and again, data sharing has proven invaluable—helping agencies locate kidnapped children across state lines, find missing seniors, and solve cross-jurisdictional narcotics and burglary cases. To make this possible, the Flock platform provides flexible options for sharing:

1. National sharing

- Opt into Flock's national sharing network. Access via the national lookup tool is limited—users can only see results if they perform a full plate search and a positive match exists within the network of participating, opt-in agencies. This ensures data privacy while enabling broader collaboration when needed.

2. Share with agencies in specific states only

- Share with agencies with similar laws (for example, regarding immigration enforcement and data)

3. Share within your state only or within a certain distance

- You can share information with communities within a specified mile radius, with the entire state, or a combination of both—for example, sharing with cities within 150 miles of Kansas City (which would include cities in Missouri and neighboring states) and / or all communities statewide simultaneously.

4. Share 1:1

- Share only with specific agencies you have selected

5. Don't share at all

In some states, sharing is automatically restricted as required by law, and searches with search terms that indicate a purpose prohibited by law have been disabled in our product. For example, in Virginia, out-of-state sharing is disabled and in Illinois, accessing data for certain purposes is not allowed.

However, you are responsible for knowing your agency's laws and policies, and ensuring that you and your agency's users are using the Flock system in compliance with these rules.

Importantly, private customers never have access to law enforcement data.

By giving you control over how your data is shared, Flock Safety makes it easier to collaborate across jurisdictions while maintaining compliance and protecting ownership. For more, see this recent statement on our website.

To review and/or adjust your sharing settings, please follow the linked instructions here. If you'd like to discuss how your agency can get the most out of these options, I'd be happy to connect.

Best regards,

Chris Colwell
